KHUS LOVE FOR VETIVER - Possible Notes?

If this is an Indian or artisanal brand, "KHUS" often refers to vetiver (KHUS-KHUS in Hindi), so the perfume might feature:

Pure vetiver essence

- Citrus top notes (bergamot, lemon)
- Woody or amber base (sandalwood, cedar, patchouli)
- Spicy or herbal touches (ginger, clary sage, lavender)
- You want more details about KHUS LOVE FOR VETIVER Perfume (100ml)—unfortunately, this doesn't appear to be a widely recognized mainstream fragrance, so I'll break down what I can infer and suggest alternatives.

1. Possible Brand & Origin

"KHUS" (Vetiver in Hindi) suggests an Indian or Middle Eastern-inspired perfume, possibly from brands like:

- Mridul Chopra's Niche Perfumes (e.g., KHUS Vetiver attars)
- M. Micallef – Desir Toxic (vetiver-heavy)
- Attar brands (Al Haramain, Ajmal, Swiss Arabian)
- Could also be a small-batch artisanal perfume (check Etsy or indie perfumers).

2. What to Expect from a "KHUS Vetiver" Scent

If this perfume focuses on pure vetiver, notes may include:

- Top: Bergamot, lemon, green grass
- Heart: Smoky vetiver, cedar, clary sage
- Base: Earthy patchouli, amber, musk

Similar mainstream vetiver perfumes:

- Frederic Malle – Vetiver Extraordinaire (raw, dry vetiver)

3. Where to Find "KHUS LOVE FOR VETIVER"?

- Since it's not a well-known commercial brand, try:
- Etsy (search for "vetiver attar" or "KHUS perfume oil")
- Indian attar sellers (e.g., Mittal Fragrances, Kannauj perfumers)
- Niche decant sites (Surrati, Abdul Samad Al Qurashi for Middle Eastern takes).

4. DIY Vetiver Scent (If Unavailable)

If you can't find it, layer:

- Vetiver essential oil (diluted in jojoba)
- Citrus (bergamot EO) + Woody (sandalwood)
- A touch of vanilla or amber for sweetness.
- Possible Brand & Scent Profile
- Given the name, this is likely an artisanal or niche Indian/Middle Eastern perfume focusing on pure, earthy vetiver (khus). Here's a breakdown of what it might smell like:

Expected Notes:

- Top: Fresh-cut grass, bergamot, lemon (bright opening)
- Heart: Smoky vetiver root, cedar, nutmeg (warm, woody depth)
- Base: Amber, musk, patchouli (long-lasting earthiness)

Style Comparison:

- Close to RUH KHUS (traditional Indian vetiver attar) but in a spray format.
- Similar to DS & Du r GA' s St. VETYVER (green, grassy) or Chanel's SYVOM ore (smoky, refined).

- Middle Eastern attar houses (e.g., RASASI, Swiss Arabian, Al Rehab's Vetiver)

- SILLAGE projection) is usually moderate—close to the skin but detectable.

2. DECODING "KHUS LOVE FOR VETIVER" – IS THIS A REAL PERFUME?

- After digging through obscure fragrance databases, I found no exact match—but here's what's likely:

- A regional attar/oud seller's custom creation (many don't list online).

- Vetiver oil has heavy molecules that evaporate slowly—that's why it:
- Clings to skin/clothes for 12+ hours.
- Blends beautifully with citrus, spices, and oud.

- Acts as a natural fixative (makes other notes last longer).
 - Pro Tip: Spray vetiver scents on hair/clothes for days of whiffs (it survives showers!).
